

January 16, 2012

Good Morning.

We have combined the newsletter to include the next 2 weeks since we have shortened weeks due to the time off. These next two weeks we will be introducing the Letters O and P.

We will be counting, sorting and graphing "O"s using Fruit Loops since they are "O" shaped. We will also be talking about arctic weather along with Polar Bears and Penguins.

On Tuesday, January 24th and Wednesday, January 25th we will be having a Pajama Day. Your child can come dressed to school in their favorite pajamas if they want to.

Just a reminder that we will be closed on Thursday, January 26th since the public schools are half day and we are also closed Friday, January 27th and Monday, January 30th for public school teacher work days.

Also don't forget that registration is now open for in house students and a discount will apply if you register early!

Hope you enjoy the day off :)
